JeruVille vol.3

living in the net // living in reality
a container city

JeruVille is a virtual city with real inhabitants, youth, of the generation of the „digital natives“. Looking for community and fighting for freedom, they found their (virtual) home.

What is (virtual) identity? What is home? Are there borders and a feeling of (national) belonging in the internet, like we know it from reality? Or is the virtual city a new, the actual home?

Every character has a facebook-profile linked with the other virtual inhabitants of the city. Questions appear – reactions and discussions by the inhabitants follow. The virtual city lives. BUT THAT IS ONLY THE BEGINNING!

The virtual live is intertwined with live actions in the cities around the world as well large container city shows. This summer JeruVille live will happen as an intercultural integration project in Budapest, Hungary. A walkable container city where the inhabitants of JeruVille will performatively bring their virtual live into reality.

Living in Budapest? //

Especially we are casting inhabitants from Budapest, to become part of JeruVille: people from anywhere – but LIVING IN BUDAPEST. We are going to start working with the virtual platform and live actions and then transform all postings and actions into one large live performance – outdoor – in Budapest in a container city.

In Budapest we are inviting:

Anyone ("We exist without skin color, nationality and religion.") between 15 and 25, with all backgrounds – especially 3rd country citizens – interested in acting, performing, dancing, or playing music – whoever interested in performing live – through the net connected with Germany and the world - speaking about „living in the net // living in reality“.

ASSISTANTS for the director, set-designer, costume-designer, make-up, musician, dramaturg and organization.

There will be A CASTING IN BUDAPEST followed by a recall and rehearsal weekend:

Friday, March 18th – casting 4pm

Saturday, March 19th – recall and rehearsal 10am-8pm

Sunday, March 20th – rehearsal 10am-6pm

The location will be set a week before the 18th – so get in touch with us!

If you are interested, don't hesitate to contact us.
